PRESS RELEASE

For Immediate Release

Align Aerospace is Appointed An Authorized Distributor for Click Bond, Inc.

Carson City, Nevada designer-manufacturer partners with award-winning hardware distributor in Southern California's San Fernando Valley

CHATSWORTH, Calif. – July 2, 2012 – Align Aerospace LLC, a global provider of aerospace fasteners, assembly component and supply chain solutions, has been appointed an Authorized Distributor for Click Bond aerospace products, announced Align CEO Richard C. Organ.

“Our strategic partnership with Click Bond is most significant given both parties’ high standards of quality and commitment to providing superior manufacturing solutions for industry,” said CEO Richard C. Organ. “The addition of the Click Bond aerospace line adds another dimension to the expansive product offerings currently stocked and sold out of Align’s global network.”

Click Bond has been a pioneer of advanced fastening solutions addressing a wide array of applications for more than forty years. The family-owned company designs and manufactures an extensive selection of bonded fasteners that eliminate welding, structural penetrations and costly labor assembly while providing lightweight traditional threaded attachment points. Click Bond surface mounted hardware simplifies the installation and support of electrical, fuel, and hydraulic systems, while their rivetless nutplates reduce hole count by two thirds and reduce installation labor time by over 80 percent.

About Align:
